

The film is a powerful story of the stillbirth crisis in this country. It chronicles the grief, healing and journey of three mothers demanding that the U.S. do better by expecting parents.

Sunday, May 11 @ 1pm

First Unitarian Universalist Church

4700 Grover Ave, Austin, TX 78756

Childcare provided

This movie contains material that will be highly sensitive to some. We ask that you come prepared to be open, curious, and thoughtful of others' experience.

Part of the First UU Reproductive Justice Film Festival, this film is produced by ProPublica, an award-winning nonprofit newsroom.